Police appeal on 'drug dealing'

ALLEGATIONS of regular drug dealing taking place on a residential estate, close to an old people's home and a skate park for youngsters, are being investigated by police.

A detailed statement, alleging that crack cocaine and other drugs are being sold from a house in Haverhill, has been received by the Weekly News this week, with copies also sent to the police, the housing association which rents out properties in the area and others.

It is claimed that drug deals are taking place on the street, as well as at car parks in the area, the skate park in Howe Road and near the traffic lights in Withersfield Road.

There are also allegations of intimidation by drug dealers.

Sweet soul music helps raise funds

SOUL music fans and their family enjoyed a fun day that raised £837 for a charity which helps people with restricted growth.

The third Soulful Family Fun Day was held at New Croft in Haverhill on July 28 and its organisers recently handed over the cheque to members of a local family with the condition.

Kayleigh Gray and partner Dan Brown attended the event along with their two-year-old son, Abe.

DJ Andy Richards was one of the organisers and many top soul acts performed, with plenty of children's entertainment on offer.

Lily Vasquez organises the events as part of a group Soulful Unsung Heroes, raising money for lesser known charities. Lily's sister, Joanne, came over specially from her home in Florida for the event, which was also in memory of her daughter Jaden, who had restricted growth and other complications before her death four years ago.

Lily said: "It was very well attended and a good time was had by all. We were also very well supported by small businesses in Haverhill who gave raffle prizes and donations. I would like to thank everyone who contributed."

Planning is already underway for next year's event on July 27, raising money for Grief Encounter, a charity which helps families affected by tragedies.

Merger for firms that focus on social care

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

A SOFTWARE company has announced its merger with a leading Australian firm which also works in the social care industry.

h.e.t. Software of Haverhill, a leading provider of software solutions for the UK social care industry, has merged with iCare Solutions (iCare), Australia's leading provider of clinical, care and medication management software solutions to the Australian care home industry.

The merger builds on the long-term relationship between the two companies and will provide a significantly enhanced presence for the expanded group in the social care markets in both the UK and Australia.

It also provides a significant presence for iCare in the UK, where the uptake of clinical, care and medication management software solutions by care home providers is growing.

The merger will allow delivery of the most complete electronic social care health record across the UK social care industry.

The UK's ageing population continues to place demands on the NHS, local authorities and providers of social care to deliver efficiency while ensuring an improved quality of care.

By 2034, it is predicted that there will be 3.5 million people in the elderly age range, accounting for 5 per cent of the UK population.

Currently, 800,000 people suffer from dementia, incurring a yearly total cost of £23 billion.

The number of people suffering from dementia is projected to grow to over 1 million by 2020.

The combined group continues to invest heavily in the development of software for the social care industry with a combined product development spend of over £2.5 million per annum, with both releasing new product ranges.

Work being undertaken with social care providers and industry stakeholders is to deliver an electronic social care health record, aimed at integrating with the Government's Health and Social Care reform agenda and the strategy for the integration of Health and Social Care.

Rohan Vandy, managing director of h.e.t. software, said: "The merger is a logical step for both organisations given the fit of our respective solutions, the similarities of the UK and Australian social care markets, and the history of our teams working together."

"By combining the passion, creativity, and professionalism of two market leading organisations, we will continue to drive our client's experience while ensuring we continue to rapidly grow our market share."

Children agree holiday fun is just magic

MAGIC tricks and climbing fun helped keep youngsters amused at the latest of a series of free activity days.

Events at different venues around the town have been organised by Haverhill Town Council on every Wednesday in August. The latest was at the Castle Playing fields, where a family magic show was staged by El Rico, with a bouncy castle and spider mountain on offer, as well as a range of sports equipment provided by Abbeycroft Leisure.

The final event yesterday from 11am to 3pm at Jubilee Plaza, offered summer ice skating, as well as a bouncy castle and more magic.

Sealegs Puppet Theatre will present Peter and the Wolf at Haverhill Arts Centre at 2pm tomorrow for those aged three and over. Tickets are £5 or £18 for a family ticket.

Town may have another lucky EuroMillions scoop

BY RAYMOND BROWN

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

LUCKY Haverhill is understood to have had its second EuroMillions lottery winner – just days after a couple scooped £148 million.

Haverhill couple Adrian and Gillian Bayford were named on Tuesday last week as the winners of the jackpot on Friday, August 10 – and now another winner has taken £50,000 in prize money.

The unnamed winner bought his EuroMillions ticket at the Murco service station in Sturmer Road within the previous week and returned to the store last Thursday where he showed stunned staff a ticket with five winning numbers.

Bev Silvian, who works at the garage, said: "I don't think he realised how much he'd won."

"I told him he had definitely won a few grand and told him to go to the main post office in Haverhill to check it out."

"After he left we looked on the internet and realised he had won £50,000."

"He is a regular customer and is in his 40s. I can't believe that's the second big winner in Haverhill. I know the couple who won the £148 million. They are a really nice couple."

Camelot has refused to confirm or deny the latest reported win. However, it is likely to give a further boost to ticket sales which have rocketed in the town since last week.

And it is not Haverhill's first brush with Lottery success.

In 1997 Glen Watts and wife Louise scooped £2.6 million after buying their ticket from the former Fowlers newsagents in High Street – which had the eighth highest Lottery ticket sales in the country at the time.

In April 2000, four workers whose jobs were under threat at Grampian Country Park in Little Wratting won £1.8 million. And in 2008 23 office workers at Havebury Housing won £2.6 million.

CCTV footage released on Friday showed luck was on Adrian Bayford's side as he bought the winning ticket at the Premier Convenience Store in Queen Street.

A man was first in the queue for the Lucky Dip, but courteously let Mr Bayford go ahead of him.

Residents tell of 'drug deals' near homes

Several residents living in the area said they had heard of drug deals going on and some said they had smelt drugs being smoked nearby.

One said: "I have never seen needles lying around or anything, but I have heard about it. You get drugs everywhere these days. I tend to keep myself to myself and not get involved with it."

Another said: "You do see a lot of people hanging about and we have had the police here a few times. I have had the smell coming in when my window is open sometimes. We tend to keep to ourselves, so it had not really affected us at all."

Acting Inspector Mel Leaman said: "We have received a copy of a message regarding alleged local drugs activity in the Haverhill area. We treat all intelligence submitted by the public very seriously and this message is currently being dealt with appropriately by local officers."

"We encourage local residents to submit any information that could assist police enquiries. You can contact your local Safer Neighbourhood Team (SNT) on 101."

William Philpott, regional director for Jephson Homes Housing Association Jephson East, said: "We take any reports of drug dealing from our properties extremely seriously and will work with police to support their enquiries."

"Illegal activity is a clear breach of the tenancy agreement and will result in enforcement action being taken."

"We work closely with the police, local communities and other agencies to take action against incidents of anti-social behaviour and encourage residents to report concerns to us."

Love lives on for swimmer

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

A MAN who met the 'love of his life' before she died from a terminal illness four years later, has completed three Great Swims in her memory.

Simon Coleman, 43, was due to take part in the Great Scottish Swim on Sunday but the event has been cancelled.

There were concerns over water quality at Strathclyde Country Park, with high levels of naturally occurring, but potentially harmful, blue green algae.

Simon said: "It is a shame it has been cancelled. They had an event at the lake in Scotland in June and a lot of the swimmers were ill, so it has been closed and only re-opened recently. They did have an alternative location, but it developed the same problem. We are looking at other swims we can do instead and plan to do a 3k swim at Fritton Lake near Great Yarmouth on September 9."

Simon, of Raine Avenue, Haverhill, set out to complete all five Great Swims in the UK this year, but the Great North Swim at Lake Windermere was cancelled due to bad weather.

Simon was a keen swimmer when he was younger and decided to return to the sport to raise awareness of the rare lung condition which his late girlfriend Paula Garnham suffered.

Joined by friends Mark, 40, and Heather Osterritter, 31, from Halstead, along with Heather's dad John Fry, Simon has already completed the Great East Swim, the Great London Swim and the Great Manchester Swim. They have already raised more than £3,600 towards their £4,500 target for the Pulmonary Hypertension UK charity which helped Paula and other sufferers.

Simon first met Paula via the internet in 2007. He knew she did not work due to illness and at first she kept the extent of her illness from him.

Paula died a year ago after suffering from a rare lung disease called pulmonary hypertension, which causes abnormally high blood pressure in the arteries of the lungs. She battled her illness for eight years, having to use an oxygen supply for at least 14 hours each day and had a syringe pump, pumping drugs into her neck 24/7 to keep her alive.

She died last August aged 41 – having lived three years longer than doctors predicted – only days after Simon had booked a special trip to take her away and propose to her.

Simon said: "Paula was my absolute soul-mate – she'd be thinking the same things as me at the same time. It was almost telepathic at times.

"She just knew me inside out and loved me with all her heart. With all she was dealing with, I just wanted her life to be as positively driven as possible, and she too in return drove me forward in life.

"Paula was the strongest lady I've ever met. All the times I was with her when she was struggling at home, the mercy dashes to Papworth and Addenbrooke's and subsequent work the doctors and nurses had to do to keep her alive, not once did she scream out or shout with the pain she was being subjected to – but I could see it all too well in her face. She had an amazing strength within.

"Paula was a real inspiration to everyone on how endeavouring to keep positively minded whilst suffering with a terminal illness, you can still lead a great life with the love and support of all your family and friends around you."

Police hunt is on for van breakers

TOOLS and cash were stolen by a thief who broke into three vans and an outbuilding on the same night.

In Downs Crescent, Haverhill, between 4.30pm on Wednesday and 7.30am on Thursday, a van was broken into and a cordless Makita drill stolen.

In Allington Walk, Haverhill, between midnight and 7.30am on Thursday, cash and tools were stolen from an outbuilding and van. Calls relating to any of these incidents should be made to Suffolk Police on 101.

Matthew joins 'cavalry' and makes history

HAVERHILL'S MP made history when he joined 12 amateur riders at Newmarket on Saturday and won the July Course's first ever amateur charity race.

The Blue Square Charity Cavalry Charge, part of Horsemen and Heroes Day, was held to raise funds for the charities Racing Welfare, which supports injured jockeys, and the Household Cavalry Operational Casualties Fund (HCOCF), which supports injured cavalrymen.

West Suffolk MP Matthew Hancock, who also represents Newmarket, was first past the post on Dick Doughtywyllie, owned by Rachel Hood and trained by John Gosden, and has so far raised almost £10,000.

He learned to ride a racehorse, riding out with world class trainers John Gosden and Michael Bell, and lost 2 stone during his training, which lasted 10 weeks.

Mr Hancock said: "I am absolutely thrilled to have won the race after a tough ten weeks of preparation.

"The exhilaration of coming home over the line first is something I will never forget and has been a real highlight of my summer.

"I was honoured to have this unique opportunity to have a fantastic time while raising money for two tremendous charities. I am very grateful to my trainer John Gosden, and to all the stable staff at his yard who helped me learn to stay on a racehorse so enthusiastically.

"I am now looking forward to putting back on at least one of the two stone I lost in what remains of summer, so I can fit into my suits."

You can still sponsor Mr Hancock through his Just Giving page, which can be found at: <https://www.justgiving.com/MatthewHancockMP>

Homes go ahead on old soccer site

PLANS for 91 new homes on a former football ground have been approved despite continuing strong objections from residents and councillors.

Members of St Edmundsbury Borough Council's development control committee carried out a site inspection last Thursday at the former Haverhill Rovers Hamlet Croft ground off Hamlet Road in the town.

They agreed that the planning application by Bloor Homes for the site, which is owned by the council, should be approved, subject to a number of conditions.

Developers must also sign a legal agreement to provide infrastructure costs including more than £250,000 towards a new primary school, £41,000 towards off-site play equipment and £36,000 for early years and childcare provision.

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

Original plans were amended after neighbours complained about overlooking, increased traffic congestion in Hamlet Road, as well as flooding and drainage concerns.

Haverhill Town Council voiced vehement opposition to the original plan and said the amendments did not overcome the bulk of their concerns.

The plan was originally recommended for approval by the committee at its meeting on August 2, with councillors told that the site was zoned for housing and no objections were raised to it by the highway authority or the Environment Agency.

Cllr Anne Gower, who attended the site inspection, said: "I felt I had no option but to vote against the application by Bloors for the houses on Hamlet Croft because in my mind the case made by the highways officer about the impact on Hamlet Road was not right.

"The basis of her assumption that the majority of the traffic would turn right on exiting into Hamlet Road was exactly that - an assumption.

"I had argued very strongly, three times in committee, that the impact of the increased traffic would make the situation in Hamlet Road even worse than it is now.

"I am also very concerned about the impact on the sewer and drainage system as I have seen the flooding and sewer problems that the residents in Croft Lane and Hamlet Road have to suffer.

"In principle I welcome the development but I think the two issues of traffic and sewage have not been fully understood."

Well done on road repairs

I WOULD like to congratulate the county council on a job well done. Not many people say it but I just had to write and say so.

The A1307 between Haverhill and Cambridge has just had a load of road repairs and I was impressed by the way the work was done. Not too many hold-ups and the job looked good.

They have even redone the white lines which needed a lick of paint. One point I would like to add: where the dual carriageway starts from Hildersham to Linton, could they please add some signs saying "merge in turn" on the dual carriageway, as many a frustrated driver gets annoyed when someone in a hurry cuts them up.

Hopefully someone at the county council could have a look at this at peak times. And some of the safety warning lights have been placed in front of bushes and trees and now the trees/bushes have grown around them they need some attention or even to be resited. Keep up the good work.

Pitch in for car boot sale

On Sunday, September 2, I am running a charity car boot sale on the Recreation Ground from 8am until 2pm.

This will raise funds for REACH (Haverhill Foodbank etc) and St Nicholas Hospice.

I hope that many of you will come along and take a pitch, but I am also seeking donations of items that I may try to sell on a charity stall at this event.

If you have items to donate I would be delighted to accept these and will collect from you. This is being promoted though Suffolk and Cambridge, so we are hoping for hundreds of visitors. Thank you.

Kitten needs to go home

THIS kitten was found in Haverhill on Sunday evening and it is hoped to reunite it with its owners.

Paul Wilson found the female kitten, believed to be about eight months old, at the bottom of Layer Road, near the Burton End junction.

He said: "She is very friendly and well looked after I am sure the owner is worried where she is."

The kitten's owners can contact Paul on 07808483880 to be reunited.

Prisoner sent threats by text

A PRISONER who refused to accept the end of a relationship sent text messages to his ex-girlfriend from jail, threatening to kill her if she had sex with anyone else.

Jerry Connors, who is serving a five-year sentence at Highpoint Prison, Stradishall, for attempted rape, appeared at Bury St Edmunds magistrates' court on Monday when he admitted an offence of sending menacing messages by a public electronic communications network.

He was sentenced to six weeks imprisonment, to be served concurrently with his existing sentence, and magistrates imposed a restraining order banning him from contacting his 18-year-old ex-girlfriend for the next 12 months.

They believed that a letter produced by the defendant at a previous hearing, saying she wanted their relationship to continue, was misleading because it was written before the offences were committed.

Chairman of the magistrates Meg Clibbon said: "We believe that custody marks the serious nature of the threats and the substantial distress caused to the victim, who was very young at the time."

Nikki Miller, prosecuting, said the victim, who was 17 at the time, had been in a relationship with Connors but he became aggressive towards her and they separated.

Connors did not accept the break-up and after she started a new relationship, sent her text messages from his prison cell, threatening to kill her when he was released.

Miss Miller said: "She is frightened of him and would like a restraining order in place so that when he comes out of prison she feels protected."

Jeremy Kendall, for Connors, 24, who is due to be released in November, said his client did not believe a restraining order was needed, as he claimed the victim had continued visiting him in prison and wanted their relationship to continue.

There was a discrepancy between what she had told police and what she had told Connors.

Mr Kendall suggested this was because of pressure from social services.

Connors claimed he had only used threats as a figure of speech and never intended to carry them out.

Charity lunch raises £24k

AN annual family-led charity lunch has raised more than £24,000 for charity.

The money, raised by the Annual Charity Luncheon held by the Lacey family and friends of Queens Farm, Fulbourn, will be split between the East Anglian Air Ambulance (EAAA), The Royal British Legion and Cambridge Cancer Help Centre.

The lunch, in May, was attended by about 250 people and more than 20 volunteers helped. Sarah Lacey-Grinling said: "Our lunches really are a team effort. We're so grateful to everyone who takes the time and trouble to support us."

A-level joy for academy pupils

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

STUDENTS at Haverhill's two academies have enjoyed a bumper haul of A-level results this year.

Pupils at Samuel Ward Academy improved again on last year's results with 81 per cent of students achieving an A*-C grade and a 100 per cent overall pass rate. At Castle Manor there was a 47 per cent A-C grade pass rate.

Vice principal at Samuel Ward, Andy Prestoe, said: "We are delighted with the results. They are a testimony to how hard our students have worked and we are thrilled that they have what they need to get into university or to move into employment. We wish them the best of luck in the future."

"These show real success in many areas of the curriculum. I'd also like to say a 'thank you' to our staff and to the parents who have provided invaluable support to our students."

At Castle Manor one in four students passed with the equivalent of three or more A grades. Results came from a broad range of subjects, with media studies a particular area of success, with 75 per cent of students achieving a grade A equivalent.

This year, 60 per cent of students applied for a university place, 90 per cent of which have already had their places confirmed.

Vanessa Blackwell, deputy principal at Castle Manor, praised the effort of staff and students.

She said: "These results are the culmination of many years of hard work for the students and staff."

"We are extremely proud that, even in these difficult financial times, so many students are heading off to university. This will be an exciting time for the students as they start the next phase of their life and an exciting time for our academy, as we continue to raise expectations and aspirations for our academy and our town."

Individual successes were enjoyed at Samuel Ward by Faye Battye (A* in chemistry,

A* in maths, A in geography, A in A/S further maths), Emillie Ferris, (A* in art, A in media, A in photography and a B in English literature), Jacob Willmore, (A in biology, A in chemistry, A in geography), Eleanor Gurr, (A in biology, A in geography, B in chemistry), Jordan Feeney, (A in photography, A in psychology, B in English literature), Ryan Meyer, (A in maths, A in physics, B in chemistry), Abi Cartwright-Thomas (A in history, A in English literature, B in chemistry) and Stephen Huckfield, (A in maths, A in music and a C in physics).

Eleanor Gurr said: "I did not really mind what grades I got, but the exams certainly were not easy. I want to do veterinary medicine, but I haven't got in anywhere this year, so I will try again next year."

"It is very competitive and there are universities that will take two As and a B, so I will try again next year."

At Castle Manor some of the best results were achieved by James Ager - B in chemistry, B in maths, B in physics and D in AS music tech. He will be heading to University of East Anglia to read chemistry.

Hannah Beswick achieved C in geography, C in history, B in philosophy and ethics and B in an extended project. She is confirming a place to read Chinese studies.

Chris Ellis achieved B in biology, B in chemistry, B in mathematics and A in AS ICT. He will be heading to University of East Anglia to read computing science.

Jorge McCallum achieved C in English language, C in history, D in psychology and A*A* in sports studies.

Vicky Hayes, who achieved A in government and politics, C in history and C in philosophy and ethics, is off the Anglia Ruskin to study history.

She said: "I can't believe it. I'm the first person to go to university in my family. Mr Lloyd (previous vice principal) told me four years ago that I could go to university and I didn't believe him, but now I am."

Jorge McCallum, said: "I'm really pleased with my results and am heading off to Bournemouth to study sports psychology."

Mum Charlotte delivers grades

YOUNG mum Charlotte Rogers took her three-week-old son Lorenzo along with her to pick up her A-level results.

Charlotte, 18, who attends Castle Manor Academy in Haverhill, still managed to get a pass in forensic science and a D in textiles, even though she missed a lot of school through ill health.

She said: "I did OK, I got one grade I was not happy with, but I had a lot of time off because I was not very well throughout my pregnancy."

"It was quite difficult studying and being pregnant, and a lot of people thought I would not finish my exams, but I am glad I did."

"I might go on to college later on and do something else. Lorenzo was not planned, but he was wanted."

Veterinary plans: Samuel Ward pupil Eleanor Gurr.

Pilot town leaders share project ideas

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

A COUNCIL leader from Devon has visited Haverhill to see how it is developing its role as one of 12 towns to pilot a new community budget scheme.

Ilfracombe is one of the pilot towns and Cllr Ron Ley, leader of its town council, arrived on Saturday to compare notes with Cllr Anne Gower, chairman of the One Haverhill Board, on how each town was progressing with the national pilot. Locality officer for ONE Haverhill Clair Harvey joined them on their tour of the town.

Cllr Gower said: "It was a real joy to give Cllr Ley a tour, a history of the town and an idea of the future developments and strategies.

"We discussed the similarities between Haverhill and Ilfracombe as well as the differences and the alternative ways we are bringing the community budget pilot project forward.

"Clair and I found it immensely helpful to be able to have an open discussion with Cllr Ley, who brought fresh eyes to our pilot, and he asked some very incisive questions which gave us a new slant on our thinking and our processes.

On tour: Anne Gower, chairman of ONE Haverhill, with Cllr Ron Ley, leader of Ilfracombe Town Council in Devon.

"He was very keen to learn about the town and the One Haverhill Board and gave some very useful insights to how he and his group are progressing the community budget pilot in Ilfracombe."

Mike Desborough, from the Department for Communities and Local Government, suggested the two lead councillors met as both places face similar issues and is the only other pilot to be led by a town council.

Cllr Ley had a tour of the town and then discussed with Clair and Anne how they are working on the community budget, how they are engaging residents and different approaches to building a budget.

Projects such as the On The Spot Bus, library and health services, and grants made by ONE Haverhill Board were also discussed.

ONE Haverhill has identified two key areas of public funding with the Haverhill Community Budget to consider first – cash to improve the physical environment and opportunities for young people.

Residents will decide which of these are most important through consultations and public events. Visit www.onehaverhill.co.uk and fill in ONE Haverhill's survey.

Zoo babies are coming out to play

BABY animals are booming at an independent zoo as it celebrates a thriving breeding season.

Young creatures including baby rare lemurs and giant tortoises are starting to get out and about at Linton Zoo following a successful few months of breeding at the South Cambridgeshire site.

Most of the owl species have hatched and a very rare white-collared lemur – the only birth in captivity this year – is starting to explore his surroundings.

Both Parma wallaby and the red necked wallaby joeys are bounding around their enclosures and Kim Simmons, zoo director, said staff at the site were extremely excited to see a baby red kangaroo poking its head out of the pouch of its mother just last week.

The Sacred Ibis in a 100ft wader aviary are rearing two youngsters high on the cliff and the white-cheeked Turaco pair also has a five-week-old chick.

And some of the dozens of baby

Sulcata giant tortoises are growing and can be seen in the animal house.

The Brazilian Tapir calf born 10 months ago has also grown well and has nearly lost all his spots and stripes.

Ms Simmons said: "It's a lovely time of year to come and see the young animals – some which are just weeks old."

"The Bank Holiday weekend will be a really good time for families and children to see some of these babies and then they can track their progress as they grow and get bigger.

"It's also a good chance to meet some of our smaller zoo animals at the animal feeds, interactive encounters and keeper talks."

The zoo is open daily from 10am to 6pm and admission fees are £9 per adult and £6.50 per child (2 to 13 years).

Sammi's making the most of her gift of life

Loving life: Sammi Sparke, and facing page, in Peru in 2006, and inset, recovering after the operation at Papworth Hospital in 2002.

Sammi Sparke was told she had days – possibly hours – to live before an organ donor was found at the last minute. In the decade since, she's travelled the globe – and spent every day making the most of the life she came so close to losing. Interview by LOUISE MARTIN

THE past 10 years have been a whirlwind for Sammi Sparke. She has successfully completed two degrees, travelled the world – and is now setting up her own photography business. Every day is precious for the 33-year-old, who is making up for lost time thanks to the organ donations that saved her life just days – or possibly hours – before time ran out.

Born with cystic fibrosis, Sammi was just six months old when she was diagnosed with the UK's most common life-threatening inherited disease. The result of a faulty gene which controls the movement of salt and water in and out of the body's cells, cystic fibrosis attacks the lungs and digestive system with thick mucus, making it hard for sufferers to breathe and digest food. At 19, and a year into a media degree at Sheffield Hallam University, Sammi became so ill doctors confirmed her only hope for survival was a lung transplant, and she was placed on the NHS Organ Donor Register (ODR).

"I went through quite a big depression at that stage," recalls Sammi, now 33. "At that point I couldn't walk very far; I couldn't go up a flight of stairs very easily without getting very out of breath."

Sammi had to leave university and return to her family home in St Neots to be cared for by her parents, Jackie and Brian, and brother Tom. As the family anxiously waited for that crucial call, Sammi's health deteriorated further, and she was in and out of hospital. "If I wasn't in hospital I was at home," remembers Sammi. "I took the points from the first year of my degree and transferred them to an Open University degree so, when I was feeling well enough to work, it gave me something to concentrate on."

With a passion for travel, Sammi kept positive by researching all the countries she wanted to visit when she was well. "I had to have something to focus on," she smiles.

"The idea of dying without seeing the world... it was such an important thing for me – just to be able to see what else was out there. I watched hundreds of travel programmes; when you're that sick you have to focus on the positives: all I thought was: 'I have to get through this.' I was very one-tracked: I didn't think about dying because what was the point? If you're going to die, you're going to die."

Sammi remained brave throughout the long wait but, when she became oxygen-dependent, she admits she didn't like being seen in public. "I had an oxygen tank with me all the time and people would just stare, which made me feel so awful. My friends offered to take me to McDonald's at a quiet time but I didn't want to have the pointing and staring and the looks, so they would come to my house instead – they were fantastic."

became so ill she was hospitalised and, as the disease continued to take grip of her weak body, her distraught parents were told to expect the worst. "A nurse said to my mum: 'She's not going to get any better, you need to prepare yourself.' She was told that a lot of times, but this time it was really going to happen."

Despite being told she had just days, if not hours to live, Sammi remained hopeful a donor would be found. "The only thing I knew was there was hope right until the end if there was a call – and there was, and it was incredible."

This week marks the 10th anniversary of that life-saving call. Sammi, who was 23 at the time, was so poorly, the operation nearly didn't go ahead as there were concerns her body wouldn't be strong enough to recover afterwards. But, on the evening of August 13, 2002, she was taken into theatre at Papworth Hospital for her double lung transplant operation. Surgeons worked through the night and, the next morning, she came around from the intricate nine-hour operation.

Sammi remained in hospital for two months as she recovered from the operation. "I was still very sick and I had no muscle tone because I'd just been in bed the whole time," she remembers. "Physically I needed to get my body to a strength where it was going to be able to work."

Sammi was eventually allowed home but, as she was struggling to put on weight, had to be fed overnight via a gastrostomy. "Weight is often an issue for people with cystic fibrosis and I was very, very tiny, but around Christmas time I started to go uphill. But it wasn't until a year after the operation I actually began to thrive."

For the next two years, Sammi enjoyed a new lease of life. She started going on short holidays and carried on with her degree, but in 2004 her health took another turn for the worse. "My kidneys failed as a result of all the transplant medication, because it was very toxic, but also because of all the previous years of very toxic medication I'd had," she said.

Sammi began dialysis straight away and, desperate to do what they could to help their daughter, her parents put themselves forward as potential donors. "They were fighting over it," laughs Sammi. "They had never been able to do anything physically while I was poorly and the one thing they could do, they wanted to. They couldn't believe that two years after my transplant operation I was very poorly again and back in hospital."

Brian was a compatible match and in 2005, after six months of dialysis, father and daughter went into theatre. "It was at Addenbrooke's: dad went in first and then me. Mum said that was the worst thing because she didn't have anyone, apart from my brother."

Sammi made a great recovery from the operation and, after a week in hospital, was well enough to return home – but her dad experienced serious complications. "Where they removed the kidney they manoeuvred his intestines too much and they had gone into paralysis," explains Sammi. "He was very poorly with poisoning, and it was a very worrying time. I felt awful because obviously he wouldn't have been in that situation if it wasn't for me, but eventually he got better and he's well again now."

Since the kidney transplant, Brian has run a half marathon to raise funds for Papworth Hospital and Sammi, who describes her health as "stable", continues to keep her cystic fibrosis in check. "I know if something's not quite right: I'm more prone to catching colds and viruses and they will always go to my chest first, because that's the weakest area. They're the main problems I have, and they can be sorted with antibiotics."

Sammi will take anti-rejection medicine for the rest of her life, but she says this is nothing compared to the medication she needed before her operations. "It's a tiny amount compared to before – it was unbelievable; I was taking a regime of nebulisers, physio and IV drips daily. I can't complain ever."

After the kidney transplant, Sammi fulfilled her dreams to travel the world and spent two-and-a-half years away from home, touring China, Laos, Vietnam, Cambodia, Thailand, Australia, Fiji, New Zealand, Africa and South America. "It was incredible, I'd never been so well – I've now got another list of places I'd like to go to that's as long as my arm."

While travelling, Sammi had plenty of opportunity to enjoy another hobby – photography – and on her return to the UK decided to take up the skill as a full-time profession. After studying the subject at Blackpool and The Fylde College, Sammi gained her second degree, and has recently set up her own photography business, Sammi Sparke Photography, in Sheffield, where she now lives.

The Organ Donor Register is obviously very close to the Sparke family's hearts and, when it reached its 10-year milestone in 2005, Sammi was invited to Downing Street to meet then Prime Minister Tony Blair. She has since campaigned for people to sign up to the register and would urge anyone thinking of doing so to do it.

"It's absolutely crucial. It costs you nothing and it takes so little of your time, yet it's saving people's lives all over the UK. If more people were on it, then clearly the more people would be saved."

"It's an incredible thing to do and I think you have to consider, if you got very poorly suddenly and you needed a kidney, would you take one from somebody? You would, so you have to put yourself in that situation and put yourself on the list, otherwise it's not a fair deal."

Sammi and her family are eternally grateful to her donor, who was in all their thoughts as they celebrated the 10-year milestone with a high tea on board a boat in Sheffield with her friends. Determined to carry on living every day to the full, Sammi regularly returns to St Neots to spend time with her family, and remains realistic about her future.

"I know I'm not going to get to an old age, but I try not to dwell on that too much. When I had my operation, transplant patients were living a maximum of 10 years, and now people are living 15, 20, 25 and 30 years, so it's getting better and better with advanced medicine. I wouldn't try to put a time on it, because it would be silly – I know how well I've done and I know what could happen, so we'll just wait and see."

School arson: no charges for teens

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

TWO teenagers arrested after a fierce blaze which destroyed an empty school will not face any charges over the incident.

More than 50 firefighters battled through the night to control the fire at Castle Hill Middle School in School Lane, Haverhill.

The blaze was discovered just before 10pm on June 3. No-one was in the building at the time, but it was initially feared that there could be gas canisters inside.

There were reports of massive flames and smoke billowing from the unused building.

Specialist contractors were brought in to remove asbestos from the roof and demolition work is still under way at the site.

A 14-year-old and a 17-year-old, both from Haverhill, were arrested on suspicion of arson two weeks after the incident and released on bail to return to the Bury St Edmunds Police Investigation Centre on August 15.

After the two had answered bail, a spokesman for Suffolk Police said: "After consultation with CPS, no further action will be taken against these individuals."

Aftermath: The scene after the fire at Castle Hill Middle School in Haverhill.

Inspector Peter Ferrie, Haverhill's Police sector commander, who had called for the demolition to be speeded up after previous incidents there, said they were not looking for anyone else in relation to the fire and their investigation was now complete.

He said: "Obviously I am disappointed that we did not manage to get anyone to court for the fire, which has had a massive impact on the town, but I am very grateful for the help the public gave us in identifying suspects."

The school was one of three in the town which closed last year after Suffolk County Council moved from a three-tier to a two tier education system.

Paul Goodman, of Suffolk Fire Service, said the blaze was "highly likely" to have been the result of an arson attack but a full investigation was difficult to carry out because the building was so unsafe.

Still reaching for the sky

WARBIRDS vintage and modern will take to the sky next month for The Duxford Air Show.

The event, on Saturday, September 8 and Sunday, September 9, is one of the highlights of the aviation calendar – and just confirmed is a flypast of United States Air Force F-15E Strike Eagles on both days.

On the Sunday only, a pair of F-16 Fighting Falcons from the Royal Norwegian Air Force will fly alongside a pair of de Havilland Vampires from the Norwegian Air Force Historical Squadron. This exciting combination has never been seen before in the UK. It brings together the Royal Norwegian Air Force's first and most contemporary jet fighter aircraft.

Also from the Norwegian Air Force Historical Squadron is their newly-acquired Lockheed T-33 Shooting Star, an American-built jet trainer aircraft, which will be flying on the Saturday only.

The presence of the Royal Norwegian Air Force and the Norwegian Air Force Historical Squadron at The Duxford Air Show commemorates the centenary of aviation in Norway, celebrated this year. It also acknowledges the long-standing historical connection between the Royal Norwegian Air Force and the Royal Air Force.

From New Zealand come two rare replica First World War aircraft, the Albatros DVa, a German single-seat biplane that sustained aerial combat in the skies over France for longer than all of the more famous Fokker models combined; and the RE.8, a two-seater reconnaissance biplane.

Also representing the bold and brave innovation of the First World War era are replicas of the Fokker DR-1, the type of aircraft in which the Red Baron gained his last 19 victories, and a Nieuport 17, a French biplane fighter aircraft of the era.

The world-famous Red Arrows will perform on the Sunday only, while the Aerostars will be performing stunning aerobatics on both days of The Duxford

Air Show.

Flying on the Saturday only is Avro Vulcan XH558, which previously flew at IWM Duxford in September 2008. Vulcan XH558 performs a majestic flying display in the 60th anniversary year of the Vulcan's maiden flight and the 30th anniversary of the Falklands conflict, in which the Vulcan played a vital role.

A pair of Tornado GR4s from 15 (R) Squadron at RAF Lossiemouth will make their debut appearance at IWM Duxford in the 30th anniversary year of the Tornado entering RAF service.

In scenes reminiscent of the Battle of Britain, five Spitfires, including a rare Mark I Spitfire, will fly in a tailchase formation with two Hispano Buchons, representing Messerschmitt Bf109 aircraft, and a Hawker Hurricane.

There's more superb biplane action with the Royal Navy Historic Flight's Swordfish, the Antonov An-2, the largest single-engine biplane ever produced and still flying, and the de Havilland Dragon Rapide, flying on the Sunday.

Following its outstanding performance in striking colours at The Jubilee Air Show, the Shorts Tucano from the Central Flying School Flight at RAF Linton-on-Ouse makes a welcome return at The Duxford Air Show on the Saturday only.

Making only its second air show appearance is P-47 Thunderbolt, Snafu, which was a highlight of this year's Flying Legends Air Show.

Even more exciting flying includes the BAe Hawk from 208 (R) Squadron, RAF Valley; the Battle of Britain Memorial Flight Dakota; the Gnat Display TeamPair; B-17 Flying Fortress Sally B; Douglas C-47 Skytrain; Bucker Bu 131 Jungmann; Curtiss Hawk 75; Grumman F8F-2P Bearcat; Consolidated PBV

Catalina (on the Saturday only) and the North American T-28 Trojan.

There are plenty of activities to enjoy across IWM Duxford and the museum is open to explore throughout the day.

Living history groups will be bringing Second World War history to life, with RAF Ops 1939-45 recreating an RAF Fighter Pilots' dispersal position and giving visitors a glimpse of 1940s bomber briefings in action.

The Military Equipment Collectors will be recreating the role of the RAF ground crew who kept Spitfires constantly at readiness throughout the Battle of Britain and beyond.

Colonel Richard Graham will be hosting his popular talks about the SR-71 Blackbird in the American Air Museum next to the SR-71 Spyplane that he flew. Colonel Graham's talks will take place at 10am and noon on Saturday and Sunday.

Children of all ages can enjoy making and painting an Airfix model in AirSpace between 10.30am and 4pm and can then take their model masterpiece home as a souvenir of the show.

There is still time to purchase tickets in advance to save 10% and get a free child ticket, which is available with every adult or senior ticket purchased.

This offer is on advance ticket purchases only; it cannot be used on the day of the event.

Tickets can be purchased online at www.iwm.org.uk or by calling the box office on 01223 499 353. The box office is open from Monday to Friday from 9.30am to 4.30pm.

There is no booking fee but a postage and packing fee applies per transaction. Advance tickets will be available until 5pm on Friday, August 24 for overseas postal delivery and 5pm on Wednesday, August 29 for UK postal delivery.

X marks the spot

He was hotly tipped to win The X Factor in 2010 – before being voted off in a shock early exit. But Aiden Grimshaw's debut album is even more surprising, as ANDY WELCH discovers.

THE last time most people saw Aiden Grimshaw was almost two years ago during the X Factor live shows.

His final performance was Elton John's Rocket Man, sporting an outfit and giant quiff every bit as engineered as the platform (made of two grand pianos) he was standing on.

Today, he's hard to spot in a busy London restaurant, only the woolly hat he's wearing – it's scorching outside – stealing any attention away from all the other good looking if unremarkable diners.

"I don't get recognised anymore," he says, convincingly.

"I did, after I'd been on X Factor and we'd all been on the tour. I was 18 when I was on the show, and part of me loved getting spotted, to the point where I'd be disappointed if people didn't notice me and I'd find myself putting my best clothes on at 10 in the morning to go and get a bacon butty.

"That was just stupid, and a pain, so I stopped with all that, and the quiff was cut off. Now no-one bats an eyelid."

Whether he bored of the attention, or whether his image change was part of a wider plan to leave behind the ITV behemoth is another matter. Since February this year, when Grimshaw announced he would be releasing solo material, he and his management have been on a positioning offensive.

While other former X Factor contestants perform in plush London venues and talk of their starry collaborators, Grimshaw has performed in a number of indie cesspits, been spotted at numerous other gigs and been interviewed by normally credibility-conscious publications who wouldn't touch an X Factor contestant with one of Simon Cowell's gold-plated bargepoles.

"Part of it is deliberate, I suppose, just to make sure everyone knows there's a difference between what I did on X Factor and what I do now. You need to be clear, I think," he admits.

"But it works both ways. When we sent samplers of my album out to journalists, it was my idea not to have a name on them, because it's a natural thing for people to pre-judge the former contestants, expect them to sound a certain way and write them off before they've heard them."

The contents of the CD, then, are rewarding. There are ballads, yes, but not the dreary, over-produced sort that appeared on, say, Matt Cardle's album.

The sparse title track could be a song by James Blake, debut single Is This Love is the epic, air-grabbing pop Hurts do so well, while the rest of the album is full of angst and bitter heartbreak.

"We started the album in November, and we were finished by February," he says, the 'we' being Grimshaw and Australian songwriter and producer Jarrod Rogers, who most recently worked with Lana Del Rey.

After trying with several other producers, Grimshaw met Rogers and clicked, deciding he wanted to record the whole album with one other collaborator rather than a different producer for each track, as so many of his contemporaries do.

"When we first started you could say I was a bit of a pain," he admits.

"I didn't know how to get my ideas across, so I'd just say no to everything. Eventually I learned how to speak up, and that just because we might be disagreeing in the studio, it's not a row.

"But that's to do with getting older. I'm 20 now. It's not that old, I know, but the past two years have been big, important years."

He goes on to explain how he moved to London shortly after X Factor and, after spending two miserable weeks in a hotel, found a place of his own in west London.

"I couldn't cook or clean or anything, but I've learned how to do all that.

"I think it's all helped me feel like I'm not in this X Factor bubble any more. I never much liked how crazy all that was."

Aware of how that might sound, he corrects himself, saying the show is the most amazing opportunity you can be given, just that the intense spotlight shone upon him wasn't to his taste.

"I mean, how could it be a bad thing, though? Before I was on X Factor I was working in Pizza Hut, and my idea of a good night was if I could eat a few handfuls of chocolate raisins from the ice cream station without the manager seeing me," he says.

He adds: "I think I could've used the show to get a number one single and an OK album, but I didn't want that, I wanted an album that was great from start to finish, like all the albums I love, and that's what I think we've done."

He can't wait to get out on the road and perform – including an in-store appearance at the new HMV store in Fitzroy Street, Cambridge on Thursday – something he's been doing since his early teens, but this will be the first time he's toured with his own material.

■ Aiden Grimshaw will be appearing at the new HMV store in Fitzroy Street, Cambridge, on Thursday, August 23 at 5pm.

Enjoying late summer scorchers

GARDENING TIPS

by Hannah Stephenson

WHILE many summer flowers are now fading, the bright lights of late summer will make your borders sizzle

My delphiniums and lupins are long gone, my roses are fading and the giant-flowered hybrid clematis are past their best, but my perennial borders remain a riot of colour thanks to a few, well-chosen gems.

Late summer can be a time when colour is at its hottest, when blazing crocosmia, burnt orange helenium, bright yellow rudbeckias, acid green euphorbias and an array of other plants come into their own.

Exotic orange ginger lilies (Hedychium), which release a great scent, clash with vibrant red Dahlia Bishop of Llandaff or its relative D. Tally Ho, with its hot, deep orange flowers.

If you prefer pastel shades, plant sun-loving cone flowers (Echinacea) in shades of pink and white for a cooler, more subtle scene.

VIBRANT: Dahlia Bishop of Llandaff will brighten up gardens as summer edges out of the picture.

The daisy-like flowers and height (they can grow to 150cm (5ft) tall) mean they work well towards the back of the border, attracting bees and butterflies and adding impact alongside globe thistle (Echinops) and monarda.

Some varieties have rich colours that can be combined with fuchsias, or blue salvias. E. White Swan, a white variety with yellow centre, provides a cooling companion dotted within the hot border.

If you thought hard before summer started and were wise enough to plant some nasturtium seeds in your hanging baskets and patio pots, they should be now showing their true colours in a hot array of orange and yellow.

Clumps of bulbs are particularly useful in extending the season. Spikes of crocosmia will add architectural interest to the late summer border, their upright, spiky leaves with elegant sprays of orange-red flowers brightening the scene.

My favourite is C. Lucifer, a fairly tall variety growing to 120cm (4ft), which produces brilliant red flowers and looks wonderful grown alongside the purple-leaved smoke bush, Cotinus Royal Purple, or against a backdrop of acid-green evergreens.

Many warm yellow herbaceous perennials look fantastic in mass plantings, such as the long-lasting Rudbeckia fulgida Goldsturm and late season heliopsis.

Bronze or burgundy leaves look fantastic mixed with the hot-coloured border. Place shrubs with red-purple foliage, such as Berberis thunbergii f. atropurpurea, behind red or orange plants.

The burgundy leaves of heucheras also make a wonderful foil at the front of the border, as their more vibrant companions show off from behind.

Other good choices include the herbaceous perennial Lysimachia ciliata Firecracker, a moisture-loving bronze-leaved plant with brilliant yellow flowers.

Use drifts of perennial border phloxes in the middle of borders to provide intense pools of summer colour.

Herbaceous potentillas or small asters can be planted in front to hide the bare phlox stems. Phloxes are ideal follow-on plants for poppies and shouldn't need staking except in windy gardens. Don't let them dry out in summer as they need a moist soil.

Hotter subjects include red hot pokers (kniphofia), which produce rocket-shaped flowers, some red with yellow at the base, others a single colour, and the red tradescantia, T. Carmine Glow, a low-growing perennial (usually growing to around 60cm so perfect for the front of the border) with strap-like foliage which flowers until September.

Red varieties of astilbe such as Feuer will give you coral-red flowers to September, above delicate feathery plumes. They thrive in moist ground in partial shade and can really brighten up a woodland scene.

If you want to add late summer-flowering plants to an existing border, buy as many of the same colour and variety as you can afford and repeat-plant them through the border to develop a sense of rhythm.

When mixing colours try to avoid using too many pastels with hot colours as the brighter hues will swamp the more subtle ones.

If you plan carefully, your sizzling summer colour can last right through to autumn.

Your Homesnow Guide to Moving Home

Moving home can be a complicated business and in the hectic run up to the big day it is all too easy to forget something vital. The Homesnow team offers their readers this handy checklist to help avoid any major pitfalls. We suggest you tick them off as you go....

www.homesnow.co.uk

1 4-2 WEEKS TO GO:

- ☐ Packing – start packing and sorting through your belongings. Now is a good time to de-clutter and pack items rarely used. Make sure you have plenty of sturdy boxes, bubble wrap and sticky tape.
- ☐ Removal companies – get estimates from removal companies, checking that comprehensive insurance cover is available against damage or loss. Is there a packing and unpacking service? Confirm the date of your move with the firm you have chosen.
- ☐ Insurance – check on your home contents insurance policies to ensure that you are covered for the move, and covered at your new address.
- ☐ Utilities – make arrangements for your gas and electricity meters (plus water meters where relevant) to be read and all your appliances to be disconnected on the day of your move. Arrange to take over gas and electricity at your new address, and make sure that all appliances will be properly fitted, plumbed or connected.
- ☐ Telecommunications – Notify your telephone and broadband provider and ask them to make the necessary arrangements for a final account at your present address, and for taking over or installing telephone and broadband facilities at your new home.
- ☐ Post – Look into re-directing your post for a few months to make sure you receive all relevant correspondence.
- ☐ Children – Look into the possibility of your children, especially young children, staying with family or friends on the day of the move.
- ☐ Pets – Make arrangements for any pets to be booked into a cattery or kennels if required. Having your pets microchipped is a good idea and if already microchipped, have the address changed to your new one. Your vet can advise on this.

Change of address – tell companies and organisations that you are moving!

Notify:

- ☐ Employer
- ☐ Inland revenue
- ☐ Local council
- ☐ Banks or Building Societies
- ☐ Credit companies, store cards & other accounts
- ☐ Gas, Electricity and water boards
- ☐ Insurance companies
- ☐ Land / mobile phones
- ☐ Internet and cable / satellite TV providers
- ☐ Doctor, Dentist and Opticians
- ☐ DVLA
- ☐ Veterinary surgery
- ☐ TV Licensing

1 WEEK TO GO:

- ☐ Delivery address – change delivery address of your Cambridge News, milk, groceries and fuel to your new address as appropriate.
- ☐ Laundry – do any last minute laundry that you can – have you arranged for a plumber to disconnect your washing machine correctly?

- ☐ Kitchen cupboards – go through your kitchen cupboards and throw out anything not in date. Also check that all jars and bottles are correctly sealed before packing.

- ☐ Fridges / Freezers – empty and clean out in preparation for moving. If you are moving a freezer and its contents, turn it up to maximum for a couple of days before you move.

- ☐ Valuables / documents – put these in safe place for moving day

4 2-1 DAYS TO GO:

- ☐ Packing – pack a bag for overnight essentials and toiletries and finish all remaining packing into boxes. Remember to label which room each box is destined for.

- ☐ Snack box – pack a box for the kitchen to include essentials like tea, coffee and sugar, as well as the kettle and mugs! Also include other snacks as necessary.

- ☐ Dismantle and disconnect – take down curtains, fixtures and fittings and disconnect white goods ready for transport.

- ☐ Outdoor items – make sure that these are stacked together and ready to be moved.

- ☐ Mobile – place your mobile on charge the night before moving and ensure that all relevant people have your number.

5 ON MOVING DAY:

AT YOUR OLD ADDRESS:

- ☐ Strip beds and pack bedding and nightclothes.
- ☐ Finish packing toiletries box.
- ☐ Direct removal firm personnel or friends helping you move as to what needs to be done.
- ☐ Turn off electric appliances.
- ☐ Disconnect cooker.
- ☐ Turn off boiler / central heating.
- ☐ Turn off water.
- ☐ Read gas meter.
- ☐ Read electricity meter.
- ☐ Secure all windows.
- ☐ Lock all doors.
- ☐ Make final checks and leave key as arranged with new owners.

AT YOUR NEW HOME:

- ☐ Open up & have a look around the new house.
- ☐ Locate fuse box, gas and electric meter and stop cock for reference.
- ☐ Take readings on gas, electric and water meters as appropriate.
- ☐ Organise the direction of boxes to appropriate rooms.
- ☐ Check the van after all is unloaded.
- ☐ Make the beds up for the evening.
- ☐ Sit down and relax – unpack the other boxes the next day.

Range Rover: A classic new era

New Range Rover lighter and leaner

IT might well have been timed to perfection. Just as the nation is gliding off the back of a terrific Olympic experience, another reason to be proud is appearing on the horizon, writes Matt Joy.

Land Rover has released the first images of the all-new Range Rover, still regarded by buyers and industry experts as the finest and the original luxury 4x4.

What is even more remarkable is that the first generation appeared in 1970 and this new model will be the fourth generation – proving that just three models have successfully seen off 42 years-worth of rivals.

But it is the balancing act between the modern and the classic that will be most crucial, as Range Rover buyers are notoriously traditional, yet no brand can survive without drawing younger buyers into its products.

The finished article is unmistakably a Range Rover but shows influences from the modern Evoque as well as sharp, contemporary detailing.

Perhaps more importantly is that there is more aluminium in the structure than ever before.

The lightweight material is used for the monocoque chassis as well as the body panels and subframes: the maximum weight saving compared to the outgoing model is a remarkable 420kg, a crucial factor in delivering better economy and emissions performance in a vehicle segment often seen as consumptive.

Land Rover global brand director John

Welcome: The fourth-generation Range Rover.

Edwards says: "The new Range Rover preserves the essential, unique character of the vehicle – that special blend of luxury, performance and unmatched all-terrain capability."

"However, its clean sheet design and revolutionary lightweight construction have enabled us to transform the experience for luxury vehicle customers, with a step change in comfort, refinement and handling to create the most capable Range Rover ever built."

With first deliveries to customers due from early next year, the new 4x4 vehicle will be made at the company's Solihull plant in the West Midlands.

Prices will be confirmed in early September.

Vauxhall's 'game-changing' Adam to debut

THE global debut of Vauxhall's game-changing new supermini will be at the Paris Motor Show, the company has revealed.

Offering more customisation possibilities than any Vauxhall before it, the Adam also breaks Vauxhall's long-standing tradition to end the car's name with a letter other than 'A'.

The pictures released so far show a great-looking car, with styling cues reminiscent of larger prestige cars and confident proportions. Vauxhall is expecting its massive personalisation potential to be its biggest pull.

When the car is unveiled, prices and basic specifications will be announced. Special interactive computer stations will be set up to allow the show's visitors to build their own Adam and explore the myriad combinations.

Three initial trim levels will be available with three distinct feels. First is the trendy and colourful Jam, then the elegant and sophisticated Glam, and finally Slam for buyers wanting a racier, sportier look.

From launch, the Adam will be offered with a choice of three efficient EcoFlex four-cylinder petrol engines: a 1.2-litre with 69bhp and two 1.4-litre engines with 86bhp and 99bhp. All will be available with optional engine stop-start technology and will use a five-speed manual gearbox.

Vauxhall Mokka is ready to order

VAUXHALL'S new sub-compact SUV, the Mokka, is now ready to order.

Unveiled for the first time in March, the new model takes the manufacturer into a new territory. A generous and practical five-seater, the Mokka is available with the option of three engines, six-speed or auto transmissions and choice of front- or all-wheel drive.

The Mokka is available with one diesel and two petrol options, ranging in power from 112 to 136bhp, and all with Vauxhall's fuel-saving Start/Stop technology as standard.

The 1.6-litre petrol produces 112bhp and 155Nm of torque and delivers a combined fuel consumption of 43.5mpg. With 136bhp, the 1.4-litre turbo is the Mokka's most powerful petrol engine and brings with it standard four-wheel drive and sub-150g CO2 emissions. Meanwhile, the two diesel models, both of which use Vauxhall's 1.7 CDTi 130PS engine, offer CO2 emissions as low as 124g/km.

What's more, whilst the Mokka has been designed to perform efficiently in urban environments, it also boasts the ability to be driven off-road when the need arises, having both front-wheel drive and four-wheel drive variants available.

The Mokka is now available to order from Murketts of Cambridge at a keen starting price of just £15,995. Stewart

Lebentz, group sales manager at Murketts of Cambridge, comments: "The new Mokka complements the Vauxhall range perfectly and we are excited that we can now offer our customers such a compelling and diverse selection of vehicles. If the order books are anything to go by, early indications suggest this new model is going to be a huge success!"

Call (01223) 706706 or go to www.murketts.co.uk for further information.

Free app tells you the nearest place to buy best-price fuel

WAZE, the free social traffic and navigation app, has added a cheap fuel locator feature to the app.

Drivers can now navigate to the cheapest petrol station along their route and update real-time fuel prices at local fuel stations. Users searching for fuel can view nearby petrol stations colour-coded by cost.

Users in the UK have already contributed more than 4,000 fuel price updates at petrol stations across the country.

The new crowd-sourced feature will save drivers time and money. Waze boasts more than 23 million users worldwide, with more than 2 million users added in the last month. In the UK, the Waze community is 600,000 strong. It can be downloaded from the Apple App Store, Google Play Market, or at <http://m.waze.com>.

MEDIA

Cambridge Newspapers Ltd is the area's leading regional newspaper publisher and part of Iliffe News & Media East. Our titles include the award-winning Cambridge News and CB Magazine and a wide range of weekly newspapers, regional magazines and websites across Cambridgeshire.

Home Delivery Controller - Full-Time

The Cambridge News is delivered six days a week direct to over 8,000 customers via a delivery team consisting largely of children aged over 13. We require an Administrator who will be responsible for all aspects of managing the Deliverers by recruiting, training, dealing with phone calls and any associated paperwork required. It is essential that an efficient daily delivery service is maintained and customer service is a priority.

An excellent telephone manner and customer service skills are required for this role together with experience in using MS word and Excel. You must also have a good standard of written English. There may be some requirement to visit some of the deliverers at home from time to time and so a current clean driving licence would be an advantage.

Merchandiser/Deliverer - Full-Time

We are looking for a person to work within our Newspaper Sales Department in a role of Merchandiser/Deliverer. The role will involve visiting local retail outlets to ensure that our publications are well stocked and visible on the shelves and to assist with any retailer initiatives and special supermarket promotions. You will also be required to deliver copies of the Cambridge News door to door to customers on given rounds throughout our circulation area and to occasionally assist with delivery of our glossy monthly publications.

This position would suit someone who is confident, well organised and used to delivering high standards of customer care. There is an element of manual lifting involved with the position and the applicant must have a clean driving licence and preferably a good geographical knowledge of Cambridge and the surrounding area. A fully expensed company vehicle is provided for use during working hours.

Both of these positions offer a competitive salary, 5 weeks annual holiday, a childcare scheme and following a probationary period there is an opportunity to join a contributory pension scheme and subsidised health cash plan.

Closing date for both positions: Tuesday 28th August

Previous applicants need not apply.

It is the company policy to welcome applications from any individual regardless of ethnic origin, gender, disability, religious belief, sexual orientation or age. All applications will be considered on merit.

Hardwick Harriers 2 Wickhambrook 5

UNDER-17

ZAK Ollington put in a man-of-the-match display as Wickhambrook continued their unbeaten pre-season build-up.

On the hottest day of the year, both teams played fast attacking football, and Wickhambrook should have gone ahead on 10 minutes, but Tom Pinker was thwarted by a good stop by the home keeper.

But he did not have too long to wait to get on the scoresheet as, 10 minutes later, great work down the right by Ross Whiting allowed Ollington to cross for Pinker to head home.

The second was a mirror image from the left wing as Tom Warnock crossed for Harry Willett, whose downward header at the far post gave the keeper no chance.

Brook, 2-0 up at the interval, drove home their advantage in the second half as Jack Child and Ollington combined before the latter cut one back for Pinker to find the corner with a crisp left-foot finish.

Ollington got the goal his performance deserved, reacting quickly to net the rebound after James Percy's shot was parried by the keeper.

Hardwick got one back when their centre-forward latched on to a ricochet and found the net with a great lob, but Whiting restored the four-goal lead after being found by Jordan Cowdrey's through ball.

Hardwick notched their second goal right on the final whistle.

Elsenham Tn 0 Kedington 9

UNDER-15

KEDINGTON started their first pre-season friendly quickly and soon became the dominant team.

Jason Moore was thwarted by a great reaction save after heading Ty Alleyne's

Zak's Olli good as Brook win

cross goalwards, but when the combination was reversed, Kedington had their lead as Moore latched on to Aaron Thorne's pass and crossed for Alleyne to find the net.

A long throw from Conor Rankin found Leon Bailey in the box, whose controlled pass was neatly tucked away by Cameron Larkin for No 2, and it was 3-0 at half time as Larkin and Bailey combined to allow Bailey Cassidy to smash one home.

Kedington started the second half in the same vein as the first as Lewis Head ran the ball down the line before passing inside to Owen Boddey, who slipped the ball into the path of Rankin to finish.

Bailey and Moore then teamed up to release Kieran Harrison for his first, followed shortly by Alleyne's second.

Harrison converted a loose ball after a Kedington corner, and the eighth saw Callum Dray venture upfield and pass to Moore, who fed George Mustoe for an unstoppable shot into the goal.

Finishing off, an attempted cross by Rankin went astray, catching the keeper by surprise and ending in the back of the net.

And just as it looked as if Elsenham were going to get a consolation from a free kick, Kedington keeper Jack Davis pushed it over the bar to preserve his clean sheet.

Tolly good as club clinch final place

Cup that: Lady captain Doreen Darbey, James Iron and Steve Ward with the Peggy McGhee Trophy (left) and the Mixed Open prizewinners (right).

■ From back page one on the par-three, 184-yard 12th hole using a five wood.

■ Haverhill junior Lewis Whiting recently competed in the English Under-14 Open Amateur Championship for the Reid Trophy, held at Blackwell near Bromsgrove.

The three-day, 54-hole medal event attracted a field of 111 and was the first experience for Whiting at international level, on a very tough par-70 parkland course.

Despite being slightly disappointed with his overall performance in the tournament, he bounced straight back to shoot a nett level-par round at Felixstowe in their Junior Open and then went on to win the 36-hole Junior Open at John O'Gaunt over the following two days with an excellent final round of nett 4-under to clinch the victory.

■ Francis and Hilary Fitch were the overall winners of the Mixed Open, hosted by Haverhill and attended by 106 competitors representing 27 clubs.

The Bury St Edmunds pair posted a score of 45pts to beat

Dick and Fran Johnson from Ryston Park, whose 43pts saw them edge Peter and Sally Cade from Newton Green into third on countback.

The best front nine was won by Ray and Julie Miller from Brampton Park with 24pts and the best back nine went to Ron Thayer and Ruth Abel from The Essex with 21pts.

Anne Roberts of Brampton Park won the ladies' nearest the pin prize on the eighth and Ivor Evans of Stowmarket took the men's accolade on the 16th.

» Football: Cornwell goal gets team up and running in league

Rovers break duck at last

CRC 3 Haverhill Rov 4
THURLLOW NUNN LEAGUE, PREMIER DIVISION

HAVERHILL finally got off the mark as they twice came from behind to see off CRC 4-3 at the R Costings Abbey Stadium on Wednesday night.

Liam Hurst put the hosts ahead after 20 minutes, but Rovers levelled things up through Jack Higgs from close range.

Bobby-Joe Taylor chipped in as the home team regained the lead, before Ryan Henshaw struck again to make it 2-2 at the break.

It was then Rovers' turn to go ahead as Dan Cornwell converted a penalty early in the second period and, although CRC made it all square yet again with an own goal, another Cornwell effort ensured the visitors registered their first league win.

"It was frustrating at times," said Rovers manager Peter Betts. "Defensively both teams had a nightmare, but we always looked like we could score goals."

"We deserved the win as we created more chances than they did. They were probably better in possession, but we worked hard for 90 minutes and got our rewards."

"It was pleasing to get that first league win and now we need to make sure we get another win on Saturday in the FA Cup."

"It's a massive game for the club and very important financially."

Rovers travel to Basildon for the preliminary round tie on Saturday.

■ Marcus Hunt's goal was not enough to prevent Rovers slipping to their third straight league defeat on Saturday, losing 2-1 at home to Walsham le Willows.

Walsham went ahead from the spot after Sam Holmes tripped a visiting attacker just inside the box, but Hunt levelled for Rovers by nodding home a free kick.

But another penalty before the interval after Jack Higgs was adjudged to have handled the ball in the area settled matters to leave the hosts bottom, without a point.

Manager Betts said: "I've got no qualms about the first penalty, but the second one I don't understand."

"There was a free kick and it went to Jack's face and then hit him on the elbow. It was a really poor decision."

On target: Jack Higgs scored against CRC.

HAVERHILL went down by four wickets when they took on fellow mid-table side Maldon in Division One of the Marshall Hatchick Two Counties Championship.

Sam Hartshorn was out before Haverhill had scored, but Amit Gupta made 47, including eight fours and a six, and shared a partnership of 66 with Luke Youngs (30) for the third wicket.

James Boulton then took over, hitting five fours and a maximum in his innings of 54 and putting on 62 for the fifth wicket with Nigel Brunning (16).

Dan Poole also chipped in 16 as Haverhill reached 188 for 8.

However, Maldon successfully reached 189 with six wickets down. Dan Pass was the pick of the bowlers with 3 for 15 and Brunning had two victims.

Haverhill II enjoyed a six-wicket win over Mildenhall IV in Division Six, restricting their opponents to 128 for 9 and then reaching 129 for 4 in reply.

A host of contributions with the bat were only enough to earn Weston Colville a home draw with basement boys Babraham in Division Two of the Tucker Gardner Cambs & Hunts Premier League.

Trevor Westley and Chris Scott both passed 50 and there were knocks worth 30-odd from Peter Bragg, Andy Brightmore and Adie Westley in their 256 for 6.

Sam Scott just missed out on a hat-trick with the ball for the hosts, but the bottom team clung on with the bat on a good wicket, closing on 203 for 7.

Scott and Paul Dean took two wickets apiece.

Horseheath overcame fine figures of 6 for 35 from Stuart Mills to beat March II by 77 runs in the Mr Cricket CCA Senior League, Division One.

Boulton runs are in vain

The first-change bowler proved too hot to handle, but the hosts did manage to put 145 all out on the board as Dan Goldsmith struck 57 and his fellow opener Martin Farrant made 28.

March were then put to the sword by Ben Piper, who took 4 for 19, and Gary Ellis, who nabbed 3 for 4 from just 3.2 overs, as they were removed for 68.

■ Sawston have retained the Adams Harrison Midweek League title after beating Haverhill in Division 1W.

Nigel Brunning made an unbeaten 43 for Haverhill, but they saw their total of 90 for 6 overhauled by Sawston, who reached 92 for 3 in reply.

In Division 3W, Helions Bumpstead were dealt a major blow in their quest for the title as they lost by 10 wickets to Balsham.

Evan Gard hit 59 for the victors, who reached 88 without loss in reply to Helions' innings of 87 for 4, in which Michael Clayden made 29.
